

It Has Always Been Good News

The angel said it, and I am not one to argue with an angel. In a day when the media offers very little good news, we have this story. We all know it. Some men are out in a field taking care of sheep at night. A bright light shines and an angel starts speaking to the terrified shepherds. The angel says not to be afraid. That is not an easy thing to do when a heavenly being is talking.

The angel says, “I have good news which shall be for all people. A Savior has been born.”

We all need a Savior. And it has always been great news to hear that One has been provided. We have all fallen short of God’s perfection. We have sinned and would have to pay the penalty-unless Someone took our sins and paid for them. God’s Son, Jesus Christ, died for us, our sins, and rose again.

The Bible says we are to believe in Him, trust Him. We could never do enough ourselves.

It is the greatest gift-at Christmas-or any time.
